INSTRUCTION SHEET FOR FORM WC-1
EMPLOYER'S REPORT OF INDUSTRIAL INJURY

Instructions

The Employer's Report of Industrial Injury (WC-1) must be filed within seven (7) working days of the employee's notification of the injury to the employer.

Please ensure the information provided in the WC-1 is clear, legible, complete, and accurate. The WC-1 will be returned to the insurance carrier/adjuster if errors are encountered that will prevent the report from being entered into the Disability Compensation Division's Information System.

It is requested that all documents for Neighbor Island cases, including subpoena requests, be submitted to the respective island's District Office.

Pursuant to Section 386-95, Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS), employers who fail to submit the WC-1 reports on a timely basis are subject to fines of up to $5,000.

Should you have any questions, please call your nearest Department of Labor and Industrial Relations Office.

The Delivery Information section below lists various delivery options. Please select the most convenient method and submit the completed form accordingly.

Please remember to sign and date the form before submitting it.

2. Computation of average weekly wages:

"Provided that where the employee holds part-time employment of fewer than thirty-five hours per week, the employee's average weekly wages shall be the hourly rate at the place of employment where the injury occurred multiplied by the average hours worked in the fifty-two weeks (or portions thereof) preceding the week in which the injury occurred, for the calculation of temporary partial disability and temporary total disability benefits only." (Section 386-51, HRS)

3. If an employee has had overtime earnings and/or bonuses which caused fluctuations in earnings, obtain the total earnings for the twelve months preceding the injury and divide by 52 weeks. If, however, because of sickness or other personal circumstances the employee did not work all of the 52 weeks, then use the number of weeks actually worked as the divisor instead of 52.

4. If an employee at the time of the injury was employed at a higher rate of pay than anytime during the twelve months preceding the injury, determine average weekly earnings solely on the higher rate of pay. When an employee at the time of the injury was employed at higher wages than any other period in the preceding twelve months and had earned overtime pay during the twelve-month period, the average weekly wage is computed by adding the average weekly overtime earnings to the average weekly straight time pay. The average weekly overtime earning is obtained by:

- a. Dividing the total overtime hours worked during the 12-month period by 52, and
- b. Multiplying it by the overtime hourly rate (based on the higher wages) by the total number of straight time hours normally worked in a week.

5. If an employee is under 25 years of age and sustains an injury causing permanent disability or death, the average weekly wage shall be computed on the bases of the wages the employee would have earned had the employee been 25 years of age.

- a. If the employee is employed as an apprentice or trainee under the terms of an apprenticeship or on-the-job training program, average weekly wage shall be calculated on the basis of the rate of pay the employee would receive at age 25 under the apprenticeship or trainee agreement, plan, or contract. An apprenticeship or on-the-job training program is one which is registered with the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, expressed in writing in a collective bargaining agreement or an employment contract, or one which the Director determines bears substantial similarities to that of an on-the-job or career training program based on a mutual employer-employee understanding.

	b. If the employee is not an apprentice or trainee, the average weekly wage shall be the median pay of the lowest and highest paid twenty-five year old employees employed in a similar occupation by the employer. If there are no twenty-five year old employees in a similar occupation with the same employer, obtain the median pay from twenty-five year olds in a similar occupation in employment with another employer in the State. * CONTACT THE DCD FOR ASSISTANCE IN DETERMINING THE AVERAGE WEEKLY WAGE IN SITUATIONS WHERE THIS GUIDELINE DOES NOT PROVIDE ADEQUATE GUIDANCE.
